This application is a 371 of PCT/EP98/06724 (filed 10/22/98). Claims 1-15 are currently pending.

Claims 4-15 objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from another multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims 4-15 not been further treated on the merits.

The references cited in the Search Report have been considered, but will not be listed on any patent resulting from this application because they were not provided on a separate list in compliance with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1). In order to have the references printed on such resulting patent, a separate listing, preferably on a PTO-1449 or PTO/SB/08A and 08B form, must be filed within the set period for reply to this Office action.

The use of several trademarks (inventive examples) has been noted in this application. They should be capitalized wherever they appear and be accompanied by the generic terminology.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

Art Unit: 1751

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The terminology "lacquer paint constituents which are usual per se" is considered indefinite in that the skilled artisan or potential infringer would be unable to determine the metes and bounds of the claimed invention. Applicant should clarify what "usual constituents" are required in the claims.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b), (e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Hennemann et al (6,409,815), Takahashi et al (5,071,593) or Saitoh et al (5,037,581).

Hennemann et al (6,409,815) discloses surface modified conductive pigments. The pigments comprise metals or metal oxides coated with organic modifying agents (Col 2, lines 7-30). The resultant pigments are dispersed in lacquer resin to provide antistatic properties (Col 3, lines 57-68; Col 4, lines 23-32). Note this reference is available under 102(e)/103 only.

Takahashi et al (5,071,593) discloses conductive agents for electrostatic coating of plastics. The disclosed compositions comprise conductive fine powder dispersed in polyurethane coating resin (Abstract; Col 2, lines 13-36; Col 3, lines 50-68). The coating compositions meet the claimed limitations regarding "polymer-based lacquer paint...constituents which are usual per se".

Saitoh et al (5,037,581) discloses electroconductive coating material. The coating material comprises electroconductive organic fiber dispersed in paints or varnishes (Abstract; Col 3, lines 19-46) to provide antistatic coatings.

The references are anticipatory.

In the event that any minor modifications are necessary to meet the claimed limitations, such as variation in resistance, such modifications are well within the purview of the skilled artisan.

In view of the foregoing, the above claims have failed to patentably distinguish over the applied art.
